Purpose

We are looking for a proactive individual with a strong ability to use initiative and with plenty of enthusiasm. This student-facing role will act as Academic Services' primary face-to-face first-point-of-contact with our students on campus. As such we need someone who can work collaboratively with colleagues, who is not fazed by a dynamic and fast-paced working environment, and who understands the sensitivity required when working with students who may be experiencing emotional challenge. Highly accurate in their work, with the ability to prioritise tasks independently, this role is an exciting opportunity to work at the heart of a vibrant university in beautiful surroundings. It would be an excellent fit for someone looking to begin a career in Higher Education.

Key Responsibilities

Full training is available:

- To staff the Student Services helpdesk on site in Cirencester and monitor the Student Services Inbox so as to be the primary first point-of-contact for students access all Academic Services' activities.

- To understand, evaluate and assist with students' queries, taking time to identify and clarify the issues.
- To provide initial advice and key information on queries across the full range of Academic Services activities via phone, email, in person and via video call. This includes but is not limited to; producing letters, timetable queries, registration checks, explaining personal administrative tasks to students such as how to register with a doctor or open a bank account.
- To refer students to appropriate team members where relevant.
- To respond to queries in strict confidence, keeping any documents and personal information secure and confidential.
- To provide administrative support across the Academic Services departments e.g., Overseeing colleagues' calendars for appointments and room bookings, assistance for various events and activities throughout the year.
- To proactively identify information needs of students, applicants and staff and work with relevant colleagues to develop new guidance documents and other resources to publish on the Student Services website and intranet.
- To keep up to date with the Academic Services and University departments, knowing who is responsible for which activities and to attend team meetings across the departments periodically to keep up to date with new activities and new staff.
- To take an active role in ensuring that the Academic Services digital provision is kept up to date.
- To acquire a knowledge of Disabled Students Allowance, Student Loan Company, and University Hardship application forms, so as to talk students through the application process; referring to a specialist Advisor only for more complex queries.
- To keep up to date usage statistics regarding helpdesk queries, reporting to the Academic Services senior leadership team.

General Data Protection Regulations: Applicant Privacy Notice

The Royal Agricultural University collects and processes your personal data so that it can meet its statutory and legal obligations, and when it has a legitimate interest in processing personal data before, during and after the end of the employment relationship.

The data which forms part of your job application (for example, application form, CV, references, Equal Opportunities Monitoring Form, shortlisting and interview records) will be stored in a range of different places, which will include the University's HR and recruitment management systems (electronic and paper based), and in IT systems (including the University's email system). Your information may be shared internally with the HR Department and with employees who are involved in the recruitment and selection process, but only if access to your data is absolutely necessary for the performance of those roles.

The University may share your data with third parties in certain circumstances. Personal data that the University uses for the purposes of equal opportunities monitoring and reporting is anonymised or is collected with the express consent of applicants, which can be withdrawn at any time. Applicants are entirely free to decide whether to provide such data and there are no consequences of failing to do so.

The University takes the security of your data seriously and has internal controls in place to try to ensure that your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, and is not accessed except by the above employees in the performance of their duties. If your application is unsuccessful, your applicant data will be destroyed 6 months following the advertised closing date of the post you have applied for. If your application is successful, your applicant data will be retained during your employment and for 6 years following your leaving date. You can access and obtain a copy of your data on request and you can ask the University to change incorrect or incomplete data.

In certain circumstances you can ask the University to stop processing your data, or you can object to the processing of your data. If you believe that the University has not complied with your data protection rights, you can complain to the Information Commissioner. Further information about your rights in accordance with Data Protection and the GDPR Regulations can be obtained from the University Data Protection Officer.
